INTRODUCTION

Reproducible worksheets have unquestionably played a prominent role in education beginning with the invention of the ditto machine or spirit master, photocopier, overhead projector, and now the “smart board.”

Worksheets serve as an important tool in supplementing, reinforcing, and expanding your lessons. No matter how good or complete the content of your textbook or curriculum may be, there will always be a need to fill in the gaps in knowledge and skills your students need to learn.

The value of worksheets in teaching English as a Second Language is clear.

Worksheets help students:

• review and understand already-taught materials in a new way
• learn through a variety of different methods
• develop writing and spelling skills
• have fun in doing challenging grammar and vocabulary building assignments
• keep their minds active and engaged
• learn new words and phrases on a topic
• make inferences, evaluating choices, and drawing conclusions
• refresh and help retain grammar points and vocabulary they have just learned
• visualize the new words through photos
• continue learning outside of the classroom

Crossword puzzles help teachers:

• supplement textbooks and curriculum
• extend and reinforce existing lessons
• keep students’ interest
• provide extra homework or classroom assignment to improve English skills
• employ additional methods of presenting grammar and vocabulary
• reinforce already-taught structures and vocabulary words
• review and test students with a less intimidating and threatening tool

Teacher’s Notes

1 Before distributing the worksheet, begin the lesson with a conversation to assess your students' knowledge of general school rules. On the chalkboard list as many rules as you can elicit from your students. Make two lists, one under the word “DO” and the other “DON’T.” Make sure that you cover some of the phrases below:

DO
- Ask permission to speak.
- Come to class regularly.
- Correct mistakes.
- Do your homework.
- Dress neatly.
- Follow directions.
- Help the teacher

DON’T
- Argue with other students.
- Arrive late.
- Cheat on a test.
- Chew gum.
- Eat and drink in class.
- Forget your books at home.
- Forget your books.

2 Distribute the worksheet. Identify what the people are doing in the photos by reading the expression below the photos. Tell the students to say “Do it!” or Don’t do it!” for each phrase.

3 Ask questions in the simple present tense using “Do.” Model the short answers, “Yes, I do.” and “No, I don’t.” Have your students repeat both the questions and short answers.

Expand the activity by asking the students to respond to the same questions with full sentences. Ask questions such:

- Do you listen to the teacher? Yes, I listen to the teacher.
- Do you do your homework? Yes, I do my homework.
- Do you eat in class? No, I don’t eat in class.
- Do you chew gum in class? No, I don’t chew gum in class.

4 Explain how to write “Do it!” and “Don’t do it!” on the blank line below the photo and phrases. (See examples.) In correcting the activity, try projecting a copy of the worksheet onto the chalkboard where students can go up to the board and write the answers.

Expand the exercise by doing an oral drill using the following mini-dialog, the commands on the worksheet, and the additional commands below.

Student #1: Hold it!
Student #2: What’s the matter?
Student #1: Don’t .......... or ............(imperative form)........!

- Open the window.
- Close the door.
- Run in the hall.
- Pick up the desk.
- Drink in the classroom.
- Do your homework.
- Chew gum.
- Eat in class.
- Write on the walls.

Follow-Up Activities

6 Play a pantomime game. Divide the class into two teams. Have members of each team take turns acting out a series of actions. The opposite team must guess the actions. Keep count of each team’s correct guesses.

7 As an additional activity, teach other common expressions in the imperative:

- Take care!
- Watch out!
- Look out!
- Don’t do that!
- Wait!
- Stop!
- Keep out!
- Do not enter!
- Handle with care!
